MEET YOUR EDUCATOR:

Paul has always been drawn to art, self-expression, and meaningful connection with others, which made hairdressing a natural path for him. Behind the chair, he loves combining creativity with conversation—creating a space where artistry and personal connection come together in a career that is both collaborative and uniquely independent. As a Color KEY in Denver, Paul is passionate about creating expressive color work that reflects individuality and modern style. One of his favorite KEVIN.MURPHY products is KILLER.CURLS, which he loves for enhancing natural texture while keeping hair healthy, defined, and full of life. If given the chance to work with any celebrity, Paul would choose Lady Gaga. Her fearless approach to hair—from classic elegance to avant-garde experimentation—makes her the perfect canvas for bold creativity. His dream would be to design a multi-tonal fashion color that blends artistry with fantasy. Paul finds inspiration everywhere within the hair community—from seasoned masters whose discipline and technique continue to shape the craft, to emerging artists bringing fresh creative perspectives. For him, that dynamic mix of experience and innovation is what keeps the industry constantly evolving.
