MEET YOUR EDUCATOR:

Kashmir is a cut and styling educator based in New Hampshire, known for creating effortless movement and expressive, textured styles. Her journey into hair began through theater, where she worked with hair and makeup throughout high school and college while also spending summers working as a salon receptionist. A pivotal moment came when a stylist she worked with—who was also a Goldwell educator—asked her to model at a show. That experience sparked a passion for the industry, and she enrolled in cosmetology school immediately after graduating college. Kashmir loves creating hair that feels natural yet impactful, with movement, texture, and personality.

Her go-to KEVIN.MURPHY product is ANTI.GRAVITY.SPRAY, which she relies on to build lift and airy volume while maintaining a soft, touchable finish. If given the opportunity, Kashmir would love to style Chappell Roan, drawn to her bold creativity and playful approach to hair and fashion. Kashmir would embrace the chance to collaborate on a look that feels expressive, modern, and fun. She draws much of her inspiration from the iconic volume and undone glamour of the 1960s and 70s, with muses like Brigitte Bardot and Sharon Tate influencing her love for big, textured hair. Outside of the salon, Kashmir enjoys unwinding by spending time with her son and practicing yoga.
